AS A BIRD WANDERS THE SATISFIED AND CONTENTED LIFE

Proverbs 27: 8 As a bird that wandereth from her nest, so is a man that wandereth from his place. KJV

Proverbs 27:8 A man who strays from home is like a bird that wanders from its nest. TLB

Proverbs 27:8 As a bird that wandereth from her nest, so is a man that wandereth from his place. Webster – A man

Proverbs 27:8 Like a bird wandering from its nest, so is a husband wandering from his home. GOD'S WORD - Husband

Proverbs 27:8 Like a bird wandering from the place of her eggs is a man wandering from his station. BBE

The place of her eggs – suggests a mother

His station – refers to a person's position of responsibility, assigned mandate or status.

Her Nest, his place or home

A HOME IS MORE THAN JUST A PLACE TO LIVE – IT'S ABOUT DAD, MUM, CHILDREN & FAMILY.

A home should have the hallmarks of a place where there is contentment and fulfillment as the prevailing environment.

Where all feel safe, secure and can express their God given gifts and character.

Maybe as believers we can be tempted to wander or stray from our God given place or position because we have not yet discovered that lifestyle of feeling fulfilled and contented that God has provided in and through himself Wandereth, Wandering or Straying from the Nest or Home.

- Wandereth OT:5074 = A verb meaning to flee, to wander. It means to turn from, to take flight, to turn away from.
- The suggested meaning of wandering is more about turning away from something – to flee from something – and not so much as wandering aimlessly about.
- Wandering means moving slowly away from a fixed point or principles / values.

It is unnatural

Proverbs 27:8 compares a person who leaves or strays from home and its responsibilities is like a bird leaving the nest, straying from the place of her eggs which would be unnatural and out of character to the laws that God inherently set for birds in creation.

And similarly, it is unnatural for a person, a husband, a father to stray away from his responsibilities of home.

A bird desiring a family and sets out to build a nest / home, lays eggs and prepares for her young to arrive how would she then leave or stray from her goal. That would be unnatural for her to do so.

Her motherly instinct would see her remain committed to whatever sacrifice and responsibilities that were required and lovingly persist pursuing her task until it was fully accomplished.

This is the imagery of a bird wandering from her nest which is her rightful place and home, and a human being has his or her own place or role in life.

But with man (mankind) this is not always so because we still see husbands, fathers, mothers for various reasons leave or stray away from their home, spouse, children and family, which is unnatural to the unique way that God originally made man.

Legitimate reasons

However, there could be some legitimate reasons why some act that way, such as death or extreme or terminal sickness, irretrievable marriage breakup, separation or divorce, abuse and violence etc.

But human beings leave their homes and responsibilities for less genuine reasons than those.

- They leave or are enticed to stray because of boredom and the seeming lack of progress towards some newly acquired ideas and aspirations which are outside their current responsibilities of a parent.
- Some feel that marriage has not produced what was selfishly expected and leave home.
- Others have either lost or stopped loving and feel there is no point in remaining in their current environment.

Proverbs 27:8 offers a timeless and universal message about the importance of finding and staying in one's place.

It also serves as a reminder of the consequences of neglecting one's responsibilities and the need to appreciate and embrace one's unique role in the world.

And it conveys the idea that staying true to one's place leads to a sense of security, purpose, and fulfillment.

In a broader spiritual context, the verse can be interpreted as a reflection of the human tendency to stray from the guidance and protection of God.

It also serves as a reminder of the importance of staying true to one's faith and remaining aligned with the divine principles and values that provide spiritual nourishment and support.

Altogether, Proverbs 27:8 encourages the individual to reflect on what they are called to be and to do in this world and remaining committed to the responsibilities and duties of that role and FINDING a sense of FULFILMENT AND SATISFACTION in it.

God's word encourages us to learn how to be SATISFIED and CONTENT because it helps us in life from straying and wandering.

Be content with your wages

Luke 3:14. And the soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we do? And he said unto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely; and be content with your wages.

Be content with what you have

Hebrews 13:5. Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee.

Learning to be content – the key word is Learning

It is through practice and application that we become more proficient in being content – thankful and appreciative in every situation

Philippians 4:11. Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content.

Remaining where God has placed / planted us for effective and fruitful functioning.

Planted in God's house – in his church

Psalms 92:13- 14 – 13 Those who are planted in the house of the Lord Shall flourish in the courts of our God. 14 They shall bear fruit in old age; They shall be fresh and flourishing, NKJV

Don't wander or stray away from what God called you to do and to be.

1. But there are some who aspire to things and that are beyond what God had ordained for them and so they will always be chasing something that they can never catch.
 2. And there are others who stray away from what God has given them to do.
- They move from the ministry into business, or politics, or some other venture often resulting in them being unproductive for the Kingdom.
 - And there are those who are attracted and enticed by a so called prophetic word or teachings that are inconsistent with God's word that causes them to be drawn away from God's placement or calling.

Lesson learned?

It is time for all of us to reflect on the lessons learned from comparing the contrasting unlikelihood of a bird leaving her nest WITH the person who strays from his home, from God's ways and from the mandate that he has been entrusted to him. Amen - Ps Barry

A POWERFUL LESSON TO BE REMEMBERED.
